

ABSTRACT

[0057] A composite barrier layer formed between a glass film and active regions of a memory device is disclosed. The composite barrier layer comprises an oxide layer formed by atomic deposition process and an insulating layer, for example a nitride barrier layer, formed over the oxide layer. The composite barrier layer eliminates the diffusion of impurity atoms from the glass film into the active regions of the device.

2025.04.10 16:03
"05" "20" "16:59:53"